This Week in September

While autumn will soon be upon us, there's still plenty of time to go outside and soak up the sun without a jacket. This issue of Lifestyle includes several culinary activities and destinations to enjoy.

National Cheeseburger Day | Sept. 18

- » National Cheeseburger Day recognizes America's favorite sandwich. To help you celebrate, The Infatuation food blog has published a map of where to find the best burgers in New York City. Wherever you choose, don't forget the cheese!

Sunday Supper at Osteria Morini

- » For a limited time, Osteria Morini is offering a very special three-course spread from their award-winning menu. While the 'Sunday Supper' changes weekly, the most recent feast included a two pound red snapper, a salad, two sides and a dessert! Orders must be placed by Saturday at 5:00 p.m.

National Pepperoni Pizza Day | Sept. 20

- » Pepperoni pizza is one of southern Italy's greatest exports. For National Pepperoni Pizza Day, challenge yourself with this homemade pizza recipe from Simply Recipes. To save time, pick up a round of pizza dough from your local pizzeria.

The Lavendar Field at Governor's Island

- » There's no shortage of reasons to visit the rolling hills and open green spaces on Governor's Island. For your next trip, consider visiting the city's only lavender field located on the southeastern edge of the island. Remember to bring a picnic basket for a sun-filled meal on the waterfront field.

until next time...
