

NYC Lifestyle

Hanukkah 2020

Hanukkah, also known as The Festival of Lights, has been celebrated for over 2,000 years. While the holiday has evolved over the years, many customs remain such as lighting a menorah, exchanging gifts and traditional foods. This issue of Lifestyle NYC arrives just in time to help you celebrate the holiday.

TimeOut's Essential Hanukkah Playlist

During this time of year, the faint sound of holiday music is all around us, whether in our homes or at the store. To help you get in the holiday spirit, TimeOut New York has curated an essential Hanukkah playlist on Spotify featuring a mix of new and traditional songs by modern day artists.

The Best Jewish Delis in NYC

Looking for a quick fix for your holiday cravings? New York City is home to some of the best kosher delicatessens. This list from Eater NYC includes some of the best Jewish delis around town if you'd rather order takeout or delivery.

Classic Hanukkah Recipes

While you may be celebrating Hanukkah a bit differently this year, there's no reason to miss out on the traditional cuisine! If crispy latkes, savory brisket or cinnamon apple cake are your thing, check out these recipes from Delish that are sure to sweeten-up Hanukkah at home.

Hanukkah Gifting Guide

Now more than ever, it's important to support small businesses. Check out this list of local brands and small businesses for gifting ideas which include gourmet bundles from Russ & Daughters, halva gift boxes from Seed & Mill, and kosher ice cream from eCreamery.