We're still one month away from summer, but the list of upcoming activities and events continues to grow as anticipation builds for warmer weather. From pop-up speakeasies and food festivals, to cultural events, we've gathered some of the best events to help you make the most of this time of year.

Pop-up Speakeasy

Famed cocktail bar Please Don't Tell, also known as PDT, alongside sister restaurant Crif Dogs, is hosting a pop-up bar on the 86th floor of the Empire State Building until May 30. If you can't make it to the pop-up, don't worry – on a typical business day, PDT's entrance is a phone booth inside Crif Dogs' Lower East Side outpost.

NYC Vegetarian Food Festival

This weekend is your last chance to get tickets to attend the NYC Vegetarian Food Festival at the Metropolitan Pavilion. Participating chefs, vendors and speakers will offer tastings, live cooking classes and educational talks – all focused on plant-based lifestyles.

Date Night at the Met

Date Night at the Met will end after May 28, so plan your next evening at the museum while you can! On Fridays and Saturdays, from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., the halls of the museum are filled with live music, tours, beverage stands and seasonal snacks. The ETHEL string quartet will be performing the final two weekends of the series.

Adidas Friends & Family Sale

The Adidas Friends & Family Sale launches this Tuesday, May 24, through Sunday, May 29 at 151 Wooster Street in SoHo. Visitors will have a chance to nab discounted inventory, limited-edition designer collaborations and more. Details for the sample sale will be released on Monday, May 23.

Flipper's Roller Boogie Palace

Ditch your winter coats and ice skates, and head over to Flipper's Roller Boogie Palace at Rockefeller Center. The new rink is a nod to Ian Ross' iconic Los Angeles skating rink founded in 1978. After skating, stop by the Flipper's store, where you can purchase 1970s-style roller-skates and memorabilia.

Queens Night Market

The Queens Night Market recently kicked off their spring/summer season which means your Saturday nights can be booked for the foreseeable future. Open every Saturday from 5 p.m. to midnight, the open-air market features 100 food and retail vendors, all independently owned, along with live performances.

Free First Fridays

The Noguchi Museum in Long Island City is now offering free tickets on the first Friday of every month. Founded in 1985, the museum honors the life work of American artist and landscape architect Isamu Noguchi. Visitors must reserve timed tickets two weeks in advance for free admission.

Tribeca Film Festival Outdoor Screenings

Between June 8 and June 19, head over to the newly opened rooftop park at Pier 57 in Manhattan's Seaport District and Brookfield Place for free outdoor film screenings as part of the 2022 Tribeca Film Festival. Selected films focus on Juneteenth, the environment, animated features and more. 6sqft has published all scheduled screenings.
